ABOUT ELLE

ELLE is a worldwide lifestyle magazine that focuses on fashion, beauty, health and entertainment. The title means "she" or "her" in French. ELLE is considered the world's largest fashion magazine, with over 21 million readers, both men and women. Along with ELLE DECORATION and ELLE DÉCOR magazines, a total of 80 digital and print international editions are distributed in over 60 countries. It was founded in Paris in 1945 by Hélène Gordon-Lazareff and her husband, the writer Pierre Lazareff as an immediate aftermath of World War II.

ELLE's pioneering founder, returned to Paris from New York City to create a unique publication that grappled with the many forces shaping the lives of women in France in 1945. Women won the right to vote in 1944, and ELLE dove immediately into long-form "newspaper-like" features on women's role in national politics and the growing feminist movement. ELLE articles featured rising fashion designers and provided free patterns of some of their fashion pieces.
